CONTRABAND DRUGS FOUND IN NEW YORK

Four Men Arrested by Custom House Officers.

Valuable Compounds Discovered on Their Premises.

Packages of Smuggled Goods Seereted in the Establishment of a Cigar Dealer.

New York, May 16.-Special custom house agents were engaged vesterday afternoon in rounding up a band of alleged smugglers. Four men were arrested, and a large stock of phenacetine, trional, sulphonal, opium, and other valuable drugs was seized and taken to the Federal Build-

The capture was the result of carefully planned work on the part of the custom house authorities, who have been investigating the work of the men arrested for several months. It was known that large quantities of these drugs were being sold to druggists throughout the city.

The leader of the band, the custom house authorities say, is in custody, together with at least two of his principal associates, and the Government is in possession of between $4,600 and $5,000 worth of valuable drugs, on which it is asserted no duty The first prisoner taken was Howard E.

Wooten, who keeps a cigar and fruit store at No. 1329 Broadway. Andrew McCort, a custom house officer, and two special agents made the arrest. Wooten at first denied his identity, saying his name was

In the case the officers found some pound packages of phenacetine, a few one-ounce cans of thymol, two one-pound cans of optum, another that had contained opium, but had been emptied of its contents, and some railroad time tables. On the handle of the case was a tag of the Richardson House,

Wooten was asked if he had any more Wooten was asked if he had any more contraband goods in his possession and replied in the negative. He was searched, and in his pockets were found invoices from merchants in Canada of consignments of contraband drugs, express receipts, letters from Canada relative to the shipment of these goods, receipted bills, together with a list of the names of the houses to whom these goods had been or could be sold, as well as the names of the men through whom the drugs were sold.

The customs officials were about to leave the store, well satisfied with the result of their work, when McCort caught sight of their work, when McCort caught sight of two bulky packages wrapped up in heavy paper lying partly concealed at one side of the store. He took out his knife, and cutting a hole in one end of one of the packages, took out from it a box of sulphonal. The two packages were then selzed and taken with the prisoner to the Federal Building.

There they were opened and their contents proved a big surprise. Twenty one-pound cans of phenacetine, ten dozen oneounce cans of trional and a dozen packages of sulphonal were stacked up on the long table in Commissioner Shields' room when the customs officials had completed their inventory. The value of the goods was estimated at about $2,000.

The four prisoners were arraigned be-fore United States Commissioner Shields, who held them for examination, Wooten in $5,000 bail, Commons and Plasse in $2,500 each, and Nahon in $1,000. The scized goods were locked up temporarily in a closet in the commissioner's room. As none of the prisoners were able to furnish the required amount of bail they were turned over to the custody of Marshal Henkel, and escorted by half a dozen deputy marshals to Ludlow Street Jail.

THE PRINTERS' ELECTION.

Columbia Typographical Union to The annual election of officers of the Columbia Typographical Union, No. 161, will be held tomorow afternoon between the hours of 1 and 6 o'clock. Ballots will be cast at the various chapels of the organization between 2:30 and 4 p. m. Hitherto it has been the custom to count the ballots at the office of the secretary of the union, which resulted in a delay of a day or two in making the announcement of the successful candidates. This year the count will be made at each chapel immediately after the closing of the polls and the returns sent to the secretary's office, where they will be announced after bring officially compiled. The scattering voters will select their choice at the office of the secretary. The election this year has cre-ated considerable interest among the secretary. The election this year has the ated considerable interest among the printers, on account of the strong personal following of the several candidates. The President of the Union, Edwin C. Jones, has been unanimously renominated by the printers in compliment to the successful administration of his office. During his incumbency Mr. Jones has effected a number of changes which have been of material aid to the printers, one of which was the increase in pay to $4 a day in the Government Printing Office. The following officers have been recommated and stand alone on the ticket: For vice president, Frank S. Lerch; secretary, William M. Garrett; doorkeeper, Jacob L. Fechtig, and organizer, Clement C. The fight among the candidates from the Government Printing Office is said to be between Goodrell, Leech, Ring, and Holmes, with the possibility of O'Brien slipping in on the strength of his record as a soldier in Cuba.

FINED FOR USING PROFANITY. George F. Barnes Pays for Abusing

George F. Barnes, twenty-one years old, was arrested yesterday and locked up by Policeman Kilmartin, of the First pre inct, for Detective Parham, on a warrant charging profanity. The arrest is the sequel of a peculiar story, based on occurences of last week, and in which Barnes was a central figure. It is understood that he warrant for the arrest was issued at the request of a pawnbroker, who claims to have had dealings with the prisoner.

Barnes was previously arrested last Saturday night by Detective Parham, charged with the larceny of a valuable statuette from Ollie Davis, of No. 1304 D Street northwest, who claims to be the man's wife. The statuette was recovered from the pawnbroker, who, together with two of his clerks, identified Barnes as the man for the money advanced on the statuette and he was satisfied.

It appears that Barnes was not satisfied, Twenty-third Street. ON A CHARGE OF MURDER. Seorge W. Horton Placed on Trial

This Morning. George W. Horton, formerly a member of the Metropolitan police force of this city, was put on trial this morning for murder in Criminal Court No. 1, Justice Clabaugh presiding. The prisoner is charged with the murder of Mrs. Jane Nicholson, in Armory Park, near Fourand-a-half Street, on June 24 last.

The circumstances surrounding the commission of the crime, as told at the time it was committed, are, in brief, that Hor-ton and the deceased were walking through the park on the day mentioned about 7 o'clock in the evening, and that without warning or apparent cause Horton took a knife from his pocket and stabbed her to death. It is stated that Horton and Mrs. Nicholson had been together some Mrs. Nicholson had been together some slight allments or to protect stock or are compared from the "spelis" of envious neighbors. NAVAL ACADEMY TESTS TO BE MORE SEVERE Decided Advance in the Standard of Admission.

New Order Goes Into Effect at Annapolis Today.

mber of Candidates Already Re duced by the Rigid Requirements.

Candidates for admission to the Naval Academy will hereafter be obliged to undergo a much more severe examination than has been heretofore required. Although the age limit for entrance has not been advanced by Congress, the academic board has decided that, to maintain a larger number of cadets at the institution and thus increase the yearly output for the service, it is advisable to have young men better prepared for the four years' course than has been demanded since the establishment of the institution.

The average graduating class at Annapolis seldom equals forty members out of from ninety to one hundred and twenty cadets who have begun the course, the difference having been lost by failure of cadets to meet the requirements of the curriculum. So pressing is the demand for junior officers in the navy that it is recognized that something must be done to increase the number of graduates assigned to the line annually.

Another prisoner was soon brought in the was William H. Commons, of 311 West Twenty-eight Street. He had been arrested at his home, where he lived with his wife and two children. The officers who made the arrest had a search warrant, and they proceeded at once to hunt for contraband goods. The result of their search was the finding of a handbag filled with packages of phenacetine, sulphonal, and trional, together with bottles and packages of drugs not included in the list of contraband articles.

Two more prisoners were brought in the evening. Francis J. Plasse was arrested in a cigar store at Seventh Avenue and Twenty-third Street. Packages of phenacetine, trional, and sulphonal ceive final commissions.

It has been determined to advance the standard of admission and thus insure a greater probability of those graduating who were admitted as cadets, and the applications of the standard of the stand plication of this order is to go into effect today at Annapolis, when the candidate appointed for the May examinations will appear. The result of the new order of appear. The result of the new order of things has been to reduce far below any previous record the number of boys who will take the examination, not more than twenty having been appointed out of more than one hundred Congressional vacancies. The trouble seems to have been due to the reluctance of boys to take appointments reinctance of boys to take appointments from men when they realize they were not equipped to meet the new requirements. Usually, at least one hundred candidates report for the May examination, and generally about one-half are rdmit-

There will be another examination early in September, when vacancies left over in September, when vacancies left over from the May examination are filled by nominations, but this year practically the entire new class will report in September instead of in May, as has been the practice for fifty years. The failure of boys at the Naval Academy is attributed principally to lack of instruction in mathematics before entering. This is regarded as the most important study taught at the school. More boys fail in this branch than in all the rest combined, and to secure a higher former at the trial. Baltimore, May 16.-John Berry, who killed Miss Amanda Clark and attempted to murder Miss Annie Clark, sisters, at their home near Bowie, Md., on March 18 last, is on trial here. He has been identified by Miss Annie Clark as the murderer and assailant. A number of witnesses testified that they had heard Berry confess the crime. in mourning, the ugly wounds on her lace inflicted by Berry being thus concealed.

Miss Annie Clark said in evidence:

"My sister and I were sitting at the table a few minutes after 7 o'clock and were nearly through supper, when Berry came in as usual. First he struck me on the top of the head with a heavy piece of oak wood, and then he struck my sister. We had no power to help ourselves. I held my hands over my sister and she held her hands over me to keep him from hitting us. We were begging him not to hurt us and screaming all the time. When my sister was struck the last blow she said, 'I'm gone! Mercy, Jesus!' My sister never spoke after that.

"Berry was brought before me afterward and I identified him. After his attack on us I heard him go through all the rooms in the house. I called to him when he was in the next roum to where we were and asked him to go for a doctor. I also asked him to put pillows under our heads and throw something over me, as I was cold I sweet he him I wouldn't fell on

That was the best way out, he said, as they would soon get him if he went away. I told him to stop at my brother's while that I did it, and that's all." Constable Porter contradicted Berry's statement.

Dr. Nelson A. Ryan, of Bowie, testified as to the condition of the murdered woman's body when found, and the injuries of Miss Annie Clark. Numerous others involved in the events following the murder gave testimony. C. C. Magruder and Charles H. Stanley were assigned by the court to defend Berry, who pleaded not

BERRY ON TRIAL FOR MURDER. Miss Annie Clark Testifies Concern-

I told him to stop at my brother's while he was out."

A strong effort was made to exclude as evidence the confession made by Berry, but it failed. The witnesses to whom the confession was made were examined to ascertain if the confession had been made under threats or promises of reward. All said the confession was made voluntarily, and Judge Wright ruled that it was admissible. During this preliminary examination Berry was called to the stand.

"Constable Bortee," he said, "took me to Thomas Wells" amloon at Bowie. While there a man I don't know asked me if I did it. I told him'no. He put his hand in the constable's poeket and said if I didn't say I did it he would shoot me. The man was stout and red faced. I made a statement before the coroner's jury, because I was a faraid they would kill me. The man in Wells' saloon was the only one who made threats. I told the colored man Fairfax dential party at Hot Springs.

testimony of the defence is being heard today. Several witnesses testified to Berry's previous good character.
